The Opportunity

The $133bn US staffing market is the largest in the world and continues to see strong growth. This year, Staffing Industry Analysts (SIA) forecasts that the recruitment sector will increase by 6% and recent economic indicators suggest that this trend is set to continue.

This growth, together with low barriers to entry, has made the United States a top destination for staffing firms looking to expand their global footprint and diversify their growth strategies. Following highly successful Trade Delegations to Hong Kong, Brazil, China, Abu Dhabi & Qatar and Dubai, and in response to recent demand from members, APSCo is delighted to confirm that the United States will be the destination for the next APSCo Trade Delegation.

The event, kindly sponsored by Deloitte and Squire Patton Boggs, will travel to New York and San Francisco where delegates also have the opportunity to stay for the SIA Forum North America with a 20% discount on entry.

Whatever sectors you cover - whether it's Finance, Life Sciences, Technology, Creative & Media or Energy and Renewables - the business opportunity is bigger in the US and our fully supported programme of seminars and hosted meetings will provide delegates with all the expert information they need to inform their business planning and drive future growth.

The Programme

- Pre-visit briefings
- Business briefings
- Seminars and events
- Client networking
- Social evenings

APSCo has used its experience of running successful Trade Delegations for over 15 years to design an itinerary and programme that will offer delegates great business opportunities and introductions with maximum flexibility.

The Delegation will be led by Ann Swain (APSCo Chief Executive) and supported by the Department for International Trade.

During the trip, delegates will receive privileged access to key contacts across the sector, briefings from specialists about business opportunities and market trends in the main growth regions of New York, San Francisco and Chicago, practical advice from experienced recruitment executives and the chance to meet with clients.

As well as including a full programme of unique events and meetings, delegates will have time to build their own network of contacts - and see the local sights!

The programme will give delegates first-hand insight into how the region operates, important advice on how to establish and build a successful recruitment business in the US and a rare opportunity to meet important decision makers in a positive and open environment.

If you would like to develop your business in the US, or simply want to "dip your toe in the water" this trip will enable you to make a cost effective assessment of the opportunities available to your company in this region.
